Market economics — policy formulation

Public policy is a central area of ACIL Tasman's advisory work, with our strengths lying in public policy development, formulation and analysis.

Our areas of expertise include most industrial markets in Australia plus markets for health, water and carbon.

Examples of ACIL Tasman's work include:

- advice on policies for oil supply emergencies and for oil imports
- policy for water pricing and water markets.

See our market economics, policy and strategy project case studies.
