ACIL Tasman career opportunities

ACIL Tasman is interested to hear from individuals with outstanding academic, industry, consulting and client development credentials.

ACIL Tasman's reputation has been built on the calibre and experience of its team of professional consultants, many of whom are leaders in their fields and have extensive professional experience.

ACIL Tasman provides an exciting, challenging and satisfying workplace for motivated individuals. We foster creativity, innovation and excellence and our clients expect this. Our consultants need to:

- hold an advanced degree in economics or other relevant discipline and have at least 10 years' experience in corporate, government or consulting fields
- have held mid level or senior positions in business, government, or consulting organisations
- be skilled in economics and policy at a high level
- possess high level presentation and writing skills
- have good interpersonal and client relations skills.

ACIL Tasman's remuneration arrangements reward performance objectively.
