

Economic consultants – economic analysis, policy and strategic advice

Clients benefit from our economic, policy and strategy expertise in the following areas:

- carbon pricing, climate change and clean energy
- competition policy, trade practices and regulation impact analysis
- economic impact analysis
- economic modelling, forecasting and risk management
- expert market advice, mergers and acquisitions and due diligence
- expert witness and litigation support
- market economics
- research and development - R & D

ACIL Tasman provides credible analysis and innovative solutions for our clients. Our work spans Australia, New Zealand, the Asia-Pacific region and elsewhere. We provide qualitative and quantitative analysis supported by macro and micro economic models developed and refined over many years.

ACIL Tasman welcomes enquiries to apply our expertise to your economic advice requirements.

Our experience includes:

- energy and resources, including coal, petroleum & minerals, electricity and gas
- renewable energy
- infrastructure
- environment and climate change
- geospatial
- agribusiness, grains and agri-biotechnology
- defence
- government policies and programs
- regulatory impact statements
- indigenous development
- social policy, health, arts, culture and sports
- transport
- water.

See our economics, policy and strategy project case studies.

Please contact ACIL Tasman to discuss economic consultancy projects covering any of these or other sectors.