

Coal, petroleum and minerals: economic consulting and assessment

Coal, petroleum and minerals: economic consulting and assessment

ACIL Tasman has substantial consultancy experience providing advice to the coal, petroleum and minerals industries both in Australia and internationally.

We understand the importance of these resources to economic growth and prosperity, the role of government resources policy, and the requirements for infrastructure.

Our knowledge as resource consultants has been gained in the course of analysing resource policy issues and resource projects in Australia and overseas since the 1980s.

Our experience and expertise encompasses project evaluation, industry structure, energy market analysis, energy market modelling, public policy and regulation.

Contact ACIL Tasman to confirm the contribution we can make to projects in the coal, petroleum and minerals industries.

See our coal, petroleum and mineral case studies.