

Government and public policy analysis, development and formulation

Government and public policy analysis, development and formulation

As government consultants, we have extensive experience in policy analysis, formulation, regulation impact and the implementation of policy and programs.

ACIL Tasman's government consultants provide policy analysis to support policy formulation and implementation to Commonwealth, State and local governments. Our experience includes policy reviews, evaluation of efficiency and effectiveness and assessment of program implementation.

Policy challenges facing governments span a wide range of issues including economics, trade, environment, natural resource management, climate change, social inclusion, program delivery and policy implementation at all levels of government.

Increasingly ACIL Tasman consultants are also called upon to examine existing or proposed policy conditions to prepare regulation impact statements.

ACIL Tasman has provided analytical and modelling and forecasting support for governments during the policy formulation and evaluation process.

Examples of our work include:

- a review of the Ministerial Council on Minerals and Petroleum Resources
- an audit of petroleum import infrastructure in Australia
- an assessment of Australia's liquid fuels vulnerability for the Australian Government
- a review of the efficiency and effectiveness of the Australian Energy Markets Commission
- a review of Community Development Employment Projects for the Department of Families, Housing, Community Service and Indigenous Affairs.

See our government and public policy case studies.

Contact ACIL Tasman to find out more about our expertise in Government policy analysis, development and formulation.